Time Zone Used Throughout the Order: Local (Romeo)

Task Organization: Camel Battalion comprised of the Campbell University, Methodist University, Fayetteville State University, and University of North Carolina - Pembroke

1. SITUATION.

a. Enemy Forces. See Appendix 1 of Annex B.

b. Friendly Forces. See Appendix 2 of Annex B.

(1) Fourth BDE, Cadet Command Eastern Region

c. Environment.

(1) Terrain. Labs are conducted at each university and the collective training is conducted on the Fort Bragg Training Areas.

(2) Weather. Weather/Light forecast will be issued in the weekly FRAGO for lab.

(3) Civil Considerations. Company training is conducted in areas with a predominantly civilian population. Coordination with local civilian authorities, including university and police officials, will be made and extreme caution will be taken in order to minimize the impact of company training on the local civilian population. Battalion training will be conducted in the Fort Bragg Training Areas.

d. Attachments and detachments. None.

2. MISSION. Camel Battalion conducts training during academic year 2008-2009 from 20AUG08 through 09MAY09 in order to enhance warrior skills and leadership abilities of all cadets in preparation Warrior Forge and subsequent responsibilities as Army officers.

3. EXECUTION.

Intent: My intent is to ensure all Cadets are trained on small unit tactics and leadership to prepare for Warrior Forge and Basic Officer Leadership Course Phase II in order to commission as lieutenants of good character with the highest standards of physical and mental readiness. Training will emphasize five crucial developmental areas: tactics (fieldcraft), land navigation, physical fitness, troop leading procedures and swimming while maintaining an outstanding academic record.

Endstate: By the conclusion of the academic year, each Cadet should be skilled at the following:

MSI: Basic understanding of the Army and the Leadership principles and Warrior Ethos;

MSII: Able to lead a fire team and demonstrate potential to lead larger size elements; pass the combat water survival test

MSIII: Successfully lead troops at squad, platoon and company level in both a tactical and garrison environment; demonstrate potential to lead BN sized elements.

MSIV: Be prepared to visualize, describe and implement training; mentor junior Cadets in leadership and military skills; score 300 points on the APFT for appropriate age group.

a. Concept of operations.

(1) Maneuver. Conducted IAW Annex C. Each week an MS IV cadet will be tasked to initiate the orders process, logistical preparation, and staff coordination for lab.

(2) Leadership Lab. Conducted every Thursday from 1600 to 1730. Topics will be as follows: see attached syllabus

b. Tasks to maneuver units.

(1) Company Commanders (each university)

(a) Issue Company OPORD to MS III chain of command NLT the Thursday before the next week's lab .

(b) Maintain unit accountability during PT and lab and submit reports per the reporting requirements.

(c) Provide C/S3 with after-action review comments via email for each week's PT/lab training NLT 1800 Friday that week.

NOTE: Cadre WARNO, OPORDs and FRAGOs are for cadre and cadet MSIV staff purposes to identify training requirements. Training OPORDS are delivered to the MSIII chain of command to execute training.

c. Coordinating instructions.

(1) CWST will be conducted by all Cadets during the first month of classes. Additional training will be scheduled throughout the semester as required.

(2) CCIR. (Commander's Critical Information Requirements)

(a) FFIR (Friendly Force Intelligence Requirements).

(i) Hospitalization, illness or injury to a Cadet for any reason

(ii) Changes in any Cadet's legal status, i.e. arrests.

(iii) Any Cadet experiencing extreme financial hardship (e.g. excessive debt or bad checks) that might affect his/her ability to participate in ROTC activities.

(iv) Any Cadet with three or more unexcused absences from training (PT and/or lab).

(v) Any Cadet on academic probation.

(b) PIR.

(i) Severe weather that could significantly degrade the value of training or harm Cadets in the travel to and from or in the execution of the event.

(ii) Planned or suspected protests or rallies against the military/ROTC, national or local, that could interfere with training or harm Cadets.

(iii) Credible, specific threats against CU students on- or off-grounds.

(iv) Extremist group or activity attempting to recruit Cadets on- or off-grounds., or activity targeting Cadets on- or off-grounds

(3) Risk reduction control measures. Safety is a critical aspect of all battalion training and risk reduction control measures will be developed and implemented for all training events. A risk assessment will be completed by the designated MS IV trainer and submitted to the Battalion S3 NLT two weeks prior to the training event. Any training assessed higher than a LOW risk will require approval from higher headquarters. Risk assessment worksheet, DA Form 7566, will be completed IAW with FM 5-19 accounts for all possible threats to Cadet and civilian/CU student safety. The MSIV OIC will also coordinate with the C/S2 to receive updates to the CCIR/PIR and analyze any factors external to the logistics of the specific training event that may have adverse effects on safety.

(4) Environmental considerations. The Camel Battalion is a member of the larger University and community and has a responsibility to conduct training in as environmentally friendly a manner as possible. Coordination with the University's Office of Environmental Health & Safety will be conducted as needed. Above all we must be good stewards of the environment – a responsibility not taken lightly in the military.
