Presidential Scholarships are prestigious, merit-based scholarships for those students who show great promise of benefiting from a Campbell University education. Presidential Scholars at Campbell are expected to be persons with high intellectual ability, strong character, commitment to service, and excellent leadership potential. Subject to satisfactory performance in requisite areas, the holder is entitled to significant funding for undergraduate study at Campbell for four years.

- Scholars are to be full-time students in an undergraduate or pre-professional program offered at Campbell University's Buies Creek campus. Students winning admittance to one of the University's graduate or professional programs are no longer eligible to hold an undergraduate Presidential Scholarship, but may apply for scholarship support through the individual School.
- Satisfactory academic progress to retain scholarship eligibility requires a 2.75 cumulative GPA by the beginning of the third semester, a 3.0 by the beginning of the fifth semester, and a 3.25 by the beginning of the student's seventh semester.
- Scholars are required to complete an appropriate number of service hours as determined by the Coordinator of the Presidential Scholars Program. Further, Scholars are required to create and maintain in an appropriate fashion a Student Portfolio of their experiences and accomplishments.
- Scholar's conduct and overall social standing must be without, significant blemish. A Scholar placed on disciplinary probation shall forfeit their eligibility at the end of that semester.

Student Profiles

Travis Reynolds

Pre-Pharmacy

Travis is a Pre-Pharmacy major from Lincoln, North Carolina. After his graduation in 2006, he plans a career in pharmacy.

As a freshman, Travis balances a demanding class schedule, including Honors seminars, with community service and a part-time job at Lincoln Medical Center Pharmacy.

Travis has donated 50 hours of community service.

Forty of these hours were spent loading, unloading, and manning the cash register for Habitat for Humanity, which builds houses for low-income families. He also volunteered his time to G. E. Massey Elementary School.

On campus, Travis has volunteered at every blood drive. He is also a member of the Pre-Pharmacy Club and the Presidential Scholars Club.

Travis is an active member of Boger City Baptist Church. He also participates in Campus Crusade for Christ.

Haven Christine Johnson

Trust Pre-Law and Accounting

Haven is pursuing a double major in Trust Pre-Law and Accounting. She will complete her three-year program in 2006. She has attended summer courses at the main campus and at the Pope Air Force Base campus. Haven's name has appeared on academic honors lists since 2002. As a member of Epsilon Pi Eta honors society, she will serve as a marshal for commencement.

On campus, she is a member of the Gilbert T. Stephenson Trust Club, the Accounting and Financial Planning Club, and the Presidential Scholars Club. She also helps welcome newcomers during orientation.

During Christmas break, Haven has delivered fruit and candy baskets to the elderly and cleaned house for an elderly disabled woman.

Her home church is in Fayetteville, but she attends a youth group at her grandmother's church in Johnston County.

Physical fitness is important to Haven. A lifetime member of the Y, she enjoys basketball, volleyball, weight training, and running.
